Seasides Around The World

Where do you live?

Where do you go for your holidays?

Here is a tourist map of the United Kingdom and the Republic of Ireland. Can you remember where the coastline is?

Around the coast are many seaside places. You might have been to some of them.

Seaside towns usually have holiday brochures and leaflets that can be posted to people who want to have a holiday in their area.

Holiday brochures can help people decide where they went to go and can give us lots of information about about places all over the world, not just in our country.

This brochure is for a holiday park in Great Yarmouth.

Brochures and leaflets also have a tourist map. This one is for holiday makers who are on holiday in the Great Yarmouth area. Great Yarmouth is a seaside town. Some of you might have been there.

How do you think this map might help people staying there for a holiday?

Can you find .....

Winterton-on-Sea, Caister-on-Sea, Gorleston-on-Sea?

Do you think these might be seaside towns too?

In seaside towns there are lots of places to buy postcards. This postcard says "Storm at Blackpool".

Perhaps some of you have been to Blackpool or have heard of it.

There are lots of seaside towns around our coast. Here are a few of them.

There are also many seaside places all over the world.

Many seaside places around the world have the same or similar things that we see in seaside places in our country although some things can be different.

If you have been to a seaside place in another country you might have found it much warmer there.

How do you think people find out about seaside places around the world?

They can get travel brochures from a Travel Agent but brochures and leaflets can also be found in Tourist Information Offices.

Travel brochures can help people decide where they want to go and can give us lots of information about about places all over the world. Most towns have a Travel Agent where you can find brochures and leaflets.

Travel agents can help you plan your holiday.

Unit 4: Going to the seaside

Section 5: Where else in the world can we have a seaside holiday?

Objectives Children should learn:

- to use secondary sources to find out information
- to develop awareness of the wider world
- about the nature of places
- about the effects of weather on people and their surroundings

Activities:

- Divide the children into groups and ask each group to use travel brochures to identify between six and eight seaside places around the world.
- Ask the children to talk about places they would like to visit.
- Ask the children to write a report about different seaside places.

Outcomes – children:

- find places and plot them on a map
- find out and record in which countries different places are

•Literacy: before children write a report on different seaside places, they will need to know how to organise and present ideas. This could be done by highlighting the characteristic language use and structure of travel brochures.
